Re: Reference in support of Patryk Kozłowski Fulbright application

I am writing in support of Patryk's Fulbright application for a graduate program at King's College London, as his Masters research project supervisor at King's should his application be successful. I have extensively discussed the parameters of the proposed project with Patryk online, and think that the project is exciting, and well within the scope of what could be achieved during the year. His motivation and enthusiasm leave me with no concerns as to his suitability for the project. I would be very willing to take Patryk on with this commitment should he be successful, and believe that we would work productively on this project, with potential for impact in the field. I can confirm that we have resources at King's for Patryk to be able to complete this work successfully, and would be able to accommodate any additional requirements that may be necessary due to Patryk's physical condition. I have reviewed Patryk's capabilities and the quality of his coding project so far, and am confident that he would be highly successful and fit in well here at King's.

Yours faithfully,
